HEPBURN RATE BILL PASSES THE HOUSE

Vote Is 349 to 7, All Dissenters Being Republicans.---Ballot Taken After Seven Days of Debate.---Provisions of Measure.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Just enough morning business was allowed in the house preceding the vote on the Hepburn rate bill today to permit delayed members to reach their seats before the roll call ordered the night before began. Three hundred and forty-six members voted for the bill; seven, all republicans, voting against it. Applause greeted the announcement of the result by the speaker of the house which had given its undivided attention to the question of government rate making for seven days.

Those voting against the measure were: Littlefield, Maine; M... Massachusetts; Perkins, New York; Sibley, Pennsylvania; Southwick, New York; Vreeland, New York; Weeks, Massachusetts.

HON. W. P. HAPBURN.

The pension appropriation bill, carrying $139,000,000 for pensions and $1,245,000 for pension administration was taken up, debated and passed without amendment. The feature of the bill, aside from the appropriation, is a provision making statute law of the famous order of the president declaring age conclusive evidence of disability. A number of bills were passed at the close of the day, including one providing a penalty of $5,000 and ten years' imprisonment for the premature revelation of government information which might have a bearing on the market price of commodities, the same penalty being provided against government employes who speculate in commodities regarding which the government furnishes statistics.

The bill, according to Mr. Hepburn's statement in closing the debate on the measure, was intended, and did, so far as it could be made, he said, comply specifically with the recommendations of President Roosevelt in the rate question. It gives the interstate commerce commission authority when a rate has been complained of as unreasonable by a shipper, to investigate that rate, state whether or not it is unreasonable, and if found to be unreasonable, to name a rate which is to be just and reasonable and fairly remunerative, which is to be the maximum rate to be charged. This rate so fixed is to go into effect 30 days after it is announced by the commission, subject during that time to be set aside or suspended by the commission or by the courts. After it has gone into effect, it is to remain the rate for three years. During this time, the opinion has been expressed by those who have participated in the debate that the rate may also be reviewed by the courts, and if found to be in conflict either with the terms of the act or with the constitution, by being confiscatory, can be set aside by the courts.

Another important feature is the definition of the words "railroad" and "transportation" in a manner to include all auxiliary instrumentalities of the common carrier and to bring them within the control of the commission. The power to name a reasonable rate and the inclusion of the auxiliaries within the jurisdiction of the commission are said to be new features. All other provisions are modifications of existing law. They include publicity of railroad methods which is to be aided by prescribing a system of bookkeeping and enlarging the commission to seven members and increasing salaries of members to $10,000 a year.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—There was a general expectation that today would witness a revival of yesterday's exciting occurrences in the senate over Mr. Patterson's resolution, but it was not realized and the large crowd attracted to the galleries was compelled to leave in disappointment when at 2 p. m. the senate went into executive session after a day devoted largely to ordinary bills on the calendar. The indications of the early morning were in the line of the popular expectation as several senators expressed a desire to speak on the resolution. There were other senators however, who held the view that the caucus question had been sufficiently agitated and they spent much of the first hour of the day's session in an effort to prevent further discussion. They were successful, for the time at least, and it was soon known that the resolution would not be called up today.

Mr. Scott spoke on his bill to give telegraph operators of the Civil war a pensionable status and the bill was passed.

Mr. Tillman again today made reference to the charge that the railroads in West Virginia were discriminating against private coal miners and had read a letter from the governor of that state charging that the Pennsylvania company controls all the trunk lines in West Virginia to the disadvantage of the state.

BONAPARTE RECEIVES COURT MARTIAL DECISION.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8. Secretary Bonaparte received the decision in the case of Midshipman James of Iowa, and Midshipman Boyd of Illinois, members of the second class, both of whom are under sentence of dismissal for hazing. Before taking action on these cases the secretary will look more closely into facts and possibly consult the president.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 8.—S. Rosenson, a former resident of Indianapolis, committed suicide today by taking carbolic acid.

Rosenson wrote a letter to a local newspaper solicitor yesterday in which he said he was tired of life.

TROOPS TO BE LEFT IN CHINA

TREND OF EVENTS CAUSES POWERS TO RECONSIDER CONTEMPLATED ACTION.

PEKING, Feb. 8.—The trend of events in China since the powers assented to Emperor William's proposal to withdraw their troops from that country has induced them to reconsider the matter. With all the governments except Germany having forces in North China, their withdrawal is now an open question. Their decisions will depend upon the developments of the next three months. Foreign residents in China strongly oppose the withdrawal of the troops.

The proposals of the Chinese in the negotiations with Russia include fixing a date for the withdrawal of the railway guards, the evacuation of Harbin, the relinquishment of certain lands and forests in Manchuria, which the Chinese claim that Russia appropriated, and the repayment with interest of the five million taels which China contributed toward the organization of the Russo-Chinese bank, through the influence of the late Li Hung Chang, and which she has since made several attempts to recover.

PRESIDENT DOLAN IS STILL DEFIANT

IF OUSTED BY COAL OPERATORS HE MAY START AN INDEPENDENT ORGANIZATION.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 8.—Notwithstanding the fact that President John Mitchell of the United Mine Workers of America has decided that local district No. 5 has the power in its present convention to oust President Dolan and Vice President Bellingham of district No. 5, President Dolan still maintains that he was elected by a referendum vote and can be removed only in the same manner. President Dolan still defies the delegates and refuses to vacate his office and a split in the district is not beyond a possibility, according to some of the delegates who announce that Dolan has received a number of telegrams and letters advising him to fight the issue and if defeated to start an independent organization.

MOSCOW, Feb. 8.—The regulations for increased security which have been in force since the outbreak of the recent revolt, will be raised February 12.

WORKMEN'S COUNCIL QUITS

RUSSIAN REVOLUTIONARIES REALIZE FUTILITY OF FIGHTING GOVERNMENT.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 8.—Realising the futility of open agitation at present among the workmen and in order to avoid the fate of its three predecessors, the workmen's council has formally disbanded and has published an announcement that it will not resume its deliberations until the forces of reaction have ceased their activity. The revolutionary leaders have now concentrated their energies on preparing for an uprising in the spring.

The revelations of the Novoe Vremya regarding the smuggling of arms into Finland from Sweden have redoubled the vigilance of the guards on the Russo-Finnish frontier, and they were rewarded yesterday by the capture of two wagons loaded with rifles, which were on their way to St. Petersburg.

Considerable shipments of dynamite have recently been seized by the police who are now in such close touch with the conspirators that the latter frequently are forced to abandon bombs. A peasant yesterday fished out three bombs from the Neva and a party of children while coasting at Nizhni Novgorod found in the snow a box filled with bombs which exploded, killing one child and mortally wounding another.

TERRIBLE DISASTER

Twenty-eight Men Meet Death In Coal Mine Explosion.

ONLY 11 ESCAPE

SIX BODIES ARE RECOVERED. MOST OF WORKMEN ARE THOUGHT TO HAVE SMOTHERED.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 8.—At least 28 men are supposed to have met death in a terrible mine explosion in the Parral mine of the Stewart Collieries company near Oak Hill. Thirty-nine were employed in the mine and 11 have escaped alive. At midnight six bodies had been recovered near the mouth of the mine and it is certain that all the others in the mine are dead.

Among those known to be in the mine and supposed to be dead are: Mine Boss Miles Pratt and his son, white; four negroes, David Wells, James Swan, George Jones, William Madison and Robert Feathergill.

The explosion occurred at 1:30 o'clock today and was caused by a pocket of gas which was struck in a fault in the mine. The explosion was terrific and it is thought that many of the miners were killed outright by it. The system of fans was completely wrecked and all air was shut off, leaving the men to smother to death. The mine is a shaft mine about 700 feet deep and the unfortunate miners had little chance of escape.

Most of the entombed men are Hungarians or negroes who had little experience in mining. They were not expecting the pocket of gas, which is nearly always discovered in mine faults in the Kanawha region.

PRESIDENT AND WIFE RECEIVE

ENTERTAIN ARMY AND NAVY OFFICERS—MISS ROOSEVELT AND REPRESENTATIVE LONGSWORTH ATTEND.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—President and Mrs. Roosevelt gave a reception tonight in honor of army and navy officers. It was the last of the evening levees at the White house for the season and was very largely attended. Invited to meet the guests of the evening were the diplomatic corps and congressional, official and residential society. At 9 o'clock President and Mrs. Roosevelt entered the blue room while the marine band played the national anthem. In the receiving line were the members of the cabinet and the ladies of their families, while the list in the blue room included a large number of persons. Admiral Dewey headed the line of callers and he was followed by Lieutenant General John C. Bates, the head of the army.

There was a lack of floral decorations but the national colors with the flags of the president, the admiral of the navy and other distinctive national emblems were conspicuously displayed.

Miss Alice Roosevelt and Representative Longworth formed the center of an interesting group while the sister of the latter, the Countess Chambrun, was among those invited to the blue room.

EXPORT DUTY ON POTASH FAVORED

BERLIN, Feb. 8.—The German agricultural council, which occupies an advisory position to the government in agricultural matters, voted today at its annual convention in favor of imposing an export duty on potash in order to prevent the sale of German potash abroad at ruinous prices. The situation has grown so strained that a dissolution of the potash syndicate is regarded as imminent whereupon it is feared German potash will be thrown on the American market in enormous quantities and at the lowest price.

BREMERHAVEN, Feb. 8.—At Rickeymeyer's ship yard here today there was launched the largest sailing ship in the world. The length of the craft is 428 feet, her breadth is 54 feet and she is of 8,010 tons burden.

BEHRING ON TUBERCULOSIS

SAYS HE WILL KEEP NEW REMEDY SECRET UNTIL FALL TALKS OF HIS WORK

BERLIN, Feb. 8.—Prof. Emil Von Behring the discoverer of the diphtheria germ, addressing the German agricultural council today announced his determination to adhere to the resolution which he promulgated in Paris of keeping his tuberculosis remedy secret until the autumn. The professor discussed lengthily his method of preventing consumption by immunizing milch cows. The aim is to secure milk having immunizing properties. He claims to have approximately solved this problem. Cows are treated when very young with a fluid which Prof. Behring calls tuberculase. It is injected under the skin of the young cows and repeated for two or three weeks.

Prof. Behring also treated cows which showed a virulent type of tuberculosis in their milk. His theory is that children fed on milk from cows rendered immune through his treatment become themselves immune.

He says the directors have decided, subject to the approval of the shareholders at a special meeting to be held on March 19, to make an issue immediately thereafter of $20,280,000 of ordinary capital stock, being $8,600,000 already authorized by the shareholders and $11,680,000 of the proposed increase which, with the amount already issued, $101,400,000 brings the total amount to $121,680,000.

The shareholders of the ordinary capital stock will have the privilege of subscribing for this at par in the proportion of one share of new stock to five shares of their registered holdings on the closing of the transfer books for this purpose on April 20 next.

SIX REQUESTS TO BE MADE

ANTHRACITE SCALE COMMITTEE LAYS PLANS FOR MEETING OPERATORS—DELIBERATIONS SECRET.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Feb. 8.—The anthracite scale committee of the United Mine Workers went into session here this afternoon. There was a large attendance of officers from the various mining districts throughout the hard coal region.

In the absence of President John Mitchell, District President Fahy of district No. 7 called the convention to order, which at once went into secret session. Nothing was made public, but it is intimated that six requests are to be made when the miners' delegates and the railroad and mine officials meet. They are as follows: An eight-hour day for the company hands; a trade agreement with the operators; slight increase in wages for all classes in and about the mines; uniform scale for rock, slate, water and all other kinds of dead work.

Signals were heard by the rescuers this afternoon and a faint voice said: "We are very weak; hurry."

R. L. CHAMBERS GIVES UP POSTMASTERSHIP

Decides to Give Up Appointment in Interests of His Party but Not in Favor of L. C. Dana's Candidacy.

Hon. Franklin E. Brooks, Cannon Bldg., Washington, D. C.: On account of business interests here over the appointment of Colorado Springs postmaster, I have positively determined that I will not accept the appointment. Will you see that my name is withdrawn immediately or shall I wire the president requesting withdrawal. My decision is final.

R. L. CHAMBERS.

February 8, 1906.

With the dispatch of this telegram yesterday morning to Representative F. E. Brooks at Washington, D. C., R. L. Chambers announced his refusal of the postmastership in Colorado Springs, for which position he had been nominated by President Roosevelt upon the recommendation of Mr. Brooks. Mr. Chambers gave up the appointment in the interests of his party, but not in favor of L. C. Dana's candidacy for a third term.

Dana Still in Race.

With Mr. Chambers' absolute refusal to accept the appointment, the question of who will be named in his stead is much mooted. Mr. Dana is still in the race, according to his own statement, and a number of friends are still urging his candidacy. There is much talk of who the successful man will be and Colonel Edgar T. Ensign, Assistant Postmaster Gilbert M. Edmundson and J. F. Humphrey are among those whose names are mentioned.

Of these three, Mr. Edmundson seems to wish to keep out of the limelight so long as there is any chance of Mr. Dana receiving the appointment, while Mr. Humphrey and Colonel Ensign are willing to take the office only on the condition that it comes without effort on their part. There is considerable talk that Colonel Ensign's name was urged prior to Mr. Chambers' appointment and that he had been promised the preference in case a dark horse was chosen.

Willing to Accept.

When seen last night Mr. Humphrey said: "I know nothing about the postmastership except what I have read. If my name is being pushed for the position it is by my friends and not by me. I will make no fight for the appointment, but would accept it if it were offered."

Colonel Edgar T. Ensign said last night to a representative of The Gazette: "While I have not actively striven for the appointment up to this time, I would accept the position if offered to me. I believe that Mr. Brooks is sincere in the matter, and I will do nothing to embarrass him."

Assistant Postmaster Gilbert M. Edmundson said: "If it becomes apparent that somebody is needed to heal the breach who has not been a factor in the fight up to this time and whose qualifications for the position might be considered as an important element, I might feel that I should ask for the appointment. I have not done so yet, however, and do not know that I ever will."

Mr. Chambers' Reasons.

In speaking of the reasons for his action, Mr. Chambers said:

"I reluctantly consented to have my name used for the position. In fact, when the matter was first mentioned to me some several months ago, I refused to be an applicant. But many friends urged that I had done faithful party work for a great number of years past and they felt that my services had, so far, not been properly recognized. They also assured me that my ability to discharge the duties of the office was beyond question, and that inasmuch as it was considered a time-honored principle in the party to always oppose a third term, I was induced to permit the use of my name. I had at no time been active in securing support or indorsement in any way for the position, except to procure a representative party and business man's indorsement, and I simply left the matter largely with friends within the party. For the past few weeks busy people, both Republican and Democratic as well, have sought to foment strife and bitterness, and to arouse the feelings of the patrons of the office in every way they could possibly do so.

Grateful to Friends.

"I wish to express the deepest appreciation of the friends who have stood by me and urged my appointment, and I am able to number among them a great many of the leading professional and business men, and in fact, citizens in all walks of life in Colorado Springs.

"I hoped that when the president had decided the matter, all bitterness and further contention would cease, but it seems to me that it has only been the cause of intensifying the bitterness and the feeling that can always be engendered in matters of this kind.

"I wish to say further that I am not a candidate for any other office; in fact, that I am expecting to make such a change in business affairs at an early date that in all probability I will be away from the city much of the time for a year or more at least."

Outcome Problematical.

When asked what he thought the effect of his withdrawal would be, if any, upon the local situation, he replied: "It is problematical. In withdrawing, I hope I have served the interests of the people to the end that they may amicably get together and secure for themselves at last peace and harmony, with a good postmaster.

"Four years ago, when Mr. Dana was a candidate for his second term, I indorsed him for that position with pleasure. I considered, however, that in this fight, he being a candidate for a third term, I had a perfect right to be a candidate for that position myself.

"Mr. A. L. Cardell, who was formerly in the office with me, is now on the Pacific coast investigating a business proposition there, which he and I had discussed before he left. A few days ago I received a letter from him concerning the same, and shall probably go there within the next few days or weeks to investigate the matter, and if I find it as favorable as he reports, in all probability I shall have to spend a great deal of my time in California during the next year."

"Suppose your nomination is confirmed by the senate before your withdrawal is acted upon, what would you do in that event?" was asked.

"I should promptly resign from the position," was the emphatic answer. "I would not accept it now under any

NEW YORK LIFE COMMITTEE AFTER M'CALL AND HAMILTON

Report to Directors Recommends Legal Proceedings to Recover Missing Funds---Perkins Is Considered Guiltless---Lax Business Methods Criticised.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—The special committee appointed by the trustees of the New York Life Insurance company to investigate the affairs of the company today made a partial report of its labors to the directors. This report deals only with the relations of Andrew Hamilton, the legislative agent with the company, and is a severe arraignment of his methods.

John A. McCall, recent president of the New York Life, also comes in for a share of the committee's criticism. He is blamed for his methods in connection with the question bureau of taxation and legislation during the last ten years and for allowing Hamilton to pay out vast sums without a proper accounting. Special attention is called to remittances of $10,000 to Mr. McCall in London and $134,500 to Hamilton in Paris in 1900. The purposes of these remittances the committee says it has been unable to ascertain and recommends that proceedings be instituted against Hamilton and McCall for an accounting or repayment.

The committee adds on this point that application has been made to Mr. McCall for information regarding the transactions, but that it is informed by Mr. McCall's family that his physical and nervous condition is such that the subject cannot be taken up at present. As to Mr. Hamilton's health, which has been represented as being bad, the committee says it has been [illegible] ... able to travel and has exerted every effort to induce him to return to make a full disclosure of his payments, disbursements and transactions, but without success.

The committee also holds both McCall and Hamilton responsible for $35,000 advanced to Hamilton to pay the state tax and which the committees declares was used by Hamilton for his own purposes. The committee is advised that both are liable for this sum. The committee maintains also that it is a matter for legal adjudication as to whether George W. Perkins of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co. is not liable for the payment of Hamilton's notes for $59,310. Mr. Perkins paid this account, the committee holds, out of the New York Life Insurance company's share of profits in its participation in a United States Steel corporation syndicate. The committee holds also that the payment of these notes by the company was unwarranted. It is only just to Mr. Perkins to say, the report adds that he acted in the matter in entire good faith, that he derived no benefit from the transaction, and that his liability, if any, is a technical one. The committee recommends that the law department of the company institute appropriate legal proceedings to carry into effect the findings and conclusions of this report.

The report is signed by T. P. Fowler, Norman Ream, Hiram Steele, Augustus G. Payne and Clarence H. Mackay and was unanimously adopted.

TWO-CENT FARE BILL NOW A LAW

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 8.—Governor Pattison late this afternoon signed the Freiner two-cent fare bill, which was accepted by the senate today and it is now a law. It will not go into effect, however, until 30 days have elapsed. The law provides that two cents shall be the maximum rate charged in Ohio for transporting passengers on the railroads of Ohio for all distances in excess of five miles.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Although the house of representatives will not take official recognition of the wedding of Miss Roosevelt and Representative Longworth on Saturday, February 17, adjournment will be taken on Friday, February 16, until the following Monday without avowing the purpose. In this manner the house will avoid establishing a precedent.

CONGRESS GETS ALL DATA CONCERNING BRAUN'S ARREST

President Submits Official Communications Bearing on Special Agent's Trouble With Austro-Hungarian Authorities, Charged With Tampering Mails.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—President Roosevelt submitted to congress today all the official communications in connection with the arrest of Marcus Braun, a special agent of the department of commerce and labor, in Budapest last May, subsequent to Mr. Braun's trouble with Austro-Hungarian officials who tampered with his mail. The correspondence was made public in compliance with a resolution of Representative Sulzer.

It comprises scores of telegrams, letters and statements, and reviews the case from the time of the first interference with Mr. Braun's mail until the punishment of minor Hungarian officials and the termination of diplomatic representations on the part of the United States. The letter of Secretary Hay finally disposed of the case as follows:

"Inasmuch as it appears from the correspondence that Braun was guilty of highly improper conduct as an official of the United States engaged in a mission in Hungary, in openly attacking the Hungarian government in the newspapers, and that his antecedents are not such as to require any further action than the proper assertion of the dignity of the United States, and inasmuch as Braun has been recalled and the offending petty officials have been reprimanded by the imperial government, the department does not feel that it is [illegible] to press the matter further with the Austro-Hungarian government."

On May 15 the Austro-Hungarian embassy in Washington advised the state department that Braun had gone to Hungary, was unfavorably criticising the Hungarian government concerning emigration and "is making through a Hungarian newspaper propaganda for emigration to Canada."

The note added that Braun claimed an official mission and requested that the United States government stop Mr. Braun's procedure.

On May 16 Mr. Storer at Vienna reported to Secretary Hay that the Hungarian foreign minister told him Braun was formerly a Hungarian subject, involved in various transactions and speculations and had left under a cloud, with large unpaid debts, had been disorderly and insolent to the authorities, that Braun was a "Jew" and Mr. [illegible] should have known that [illegible] would inevitably result on that account; that the Hungarian government never liked the presence of foreign subjects who had [illegible] themselves; that the [illegible] asserted he was an official of the United States and might be, but was considered acting for private ends, and that it was a great pity to have the relations between America and Austria-Hungary ruffled by the chatter of a troublesome official.

May 23 Mr. Storer cabled [illegible] Austrian embassy in Washington [illegible] instructed [illegible]

TAIGNY SAYS CASTRO LOVES TO FIGHT AND WANTS CHANCE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—M. Taigny, charge d'affaires of France, who was expelled from Venezuela, had a conference with the French ambassador today. He gave Mr. Jusserand a history of recent happenings in Venezuela, which the ambassador will forward to his government.

M. Taigny did not call at the state department, notwithstanding the fact that the United States is looking after France's interests in Venezuela and after the interests of Venezuela in France. The ambassador informed M. Taigny minutely as to the attitude of the United States toward this matter and M. Taigny will be able to report to the minister of foreign affairs in France. It left Washington for New York tonight and will sail on the Lafrangia next Saturday.

When seen today M. Taigny declared that he had received a cablegram from his government, but had not yet been able to decipher it, as the French code book for Venezuela and for the United States are not the same. As to the reason for his expulsion he repeated the statements he had made in New York and continued:

"It is impossible to maintain satisfactory relations with a man like Castro. His chief object is to get money, no matter, from where or in what way. This is at the basis of everything."

When asked what he thought of an invasion of Venezuela by a French army M. Taigny shrugged his shoulders and professed not to have much knowledge of the chance of success of such an undertaking.

"It is a extremely difficult country to fight in," he said. "The country is very mountainous, and, though Caracas is from the coast only nine miles as the crow flies, the road to the capital is about 35 miles long and easy defense."

"The people love nothing more than a fight, and would welcome such a chance. Besides, although sure of the ultimate result, there is always danger of complications with the United States or any other foreign nation, and France is not likely to embark on such an expedition as long as she can use other remedies."

LA FOLLETTE INTRODUCES HIS ANTI-PASS MEASURE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Senator La Follette today introduced a bill prohibiting federal officials from asking or accepting railroad or other passes and prohibiting railroads from granting them. It imposes penalties for violations of the law.

The bill forbids all persons and corporations giving free passes or grants to any political committee or its employes, to any candidate for an office under the constitution or laws of the United States or to any holder of such an office. The bill forbids passes, franks or privileges being issued to any person which are withheld from any other person for "traveling accommodation or transportation of any person or property or the transportation of any manufacture or communication."

The punishment for violations of the bill is imprisonment at hard labor for not more than five years nor less than one year or by fine not exceeding $5,000 nor less than $100.

Agents and officers of companies within the purview of the bill are to be privileged from testifying in relation to anything it prohibits, and no person so testifying is to be liable to punishment for any offense concerning which he was required to testify.

"Free pass," as used in the bill is defined as "any form of ticket or mileage entitling the holder to travel over any part of the line or lines of any railroad, issued to the holder as a gift in consideration of any service performed or to be performed by such holder or any other person, except where such ticket or mileage is used by such holder in the performance of his duties as an employe of the railroad issuing the same."

Railway mail service men while in the performance of their duty are to be exempt from the provisions of the bill.

MINERS REFUSE TO RETURN TO WORK

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., Feb. 8.—At a mass meeting here today of miners employed by the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburg Coal and Iron company, the Jefferson and Clearfield Coal and Iron company and allied companies with headquarters here, it was decided unanimously not to go to work again until all grievances between the men and the companies have been adjusted. The miners today claimed that the Altoona agreement is being violated. When the company officials were notified yesterday that work would be suspended today in order to allow the miners to attend the meetings, the shipment of coal over the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg railroad was at once suspended. All night operators and day operators in coal yards over the entire area of production in the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg territory have been laid off. About 10,000 miners are affected.

After the adjournment of the meeting the miners' officers received word from General Manager Robinson that he will meet them at Punxsutawney tomorrow in an effort to adjust differences and tonight there is a hopeful feeling that the strike will be speedily settled.

JOHN A. M'CALL IS SERIOUSLY ILL

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—John A. McCall, former president of the New York Life Insurance company, is again reported seriously ill at Lakewood, N. J. Mr. McCall has been confined to his bed for some days and is attended constantly by two nurses and a physician. His condition is said to be causing his family much alarm.

CORONER TAKES UP SNEDEN CASE

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Circumstances surrounding the death from poisoning yesterday of Mrs. Warren C. Sneden, at the Hotel Vendome, have led Coroner George F. Shrady, Jr., to make an investigation, and he will hold an autopsy on the body. Mrs. Sneden had been found dead in bed by her husband, Dr. Sneden.

Dr. and Mrs. Sneden had been patrons of the Vendome, off and on, for the last six months. Their last visit began six weeks ago. They said they came from Waveland, Fla., and are also reported to have had a home at Jensen.

The Snedens were formerly well known in Brooklyn and at Riverhead and Jamesport, L. I.

Dr. Warren C. Sneden is a son of S. Warren Sneden, formerly president of the Metropolitan Savings bank of New York. While living at Riverhead, L. I., in November, 1883, Dr. Sneden married Laura E. Dimon, the daughter of the late John E. Dimon, a retired merchant who had amassed $300,000 in Lima, Peru, and who spent his last days at Jamesport, L. I. Mrs. Sneden and her sister were the only heirs to the large Dimon estate.

For a few years after the marriage, the Snedens lived at 131 Prospect place, Brooklyn, but in November, 1892, Mrs. Sneden left home with her four-year-old daughter Rosalie and went to the home of former State Senator Simon Hawkins, at Jamesport, L. I.

Dr. Sneden applied to the supreme court in January, 1893, for a writ of habeas corpus and upon the return Justice Bartlett made an order that the doctor must be permitted to see his daughter Rosalie once a week. Two months later, Dr. Sneden sued his wife for legal separation.

Mrs. Sneden in her sworn answer, admitted that on several occasions she had abandoned her husband, but declared that he had treated her with great cruelty.

Under the influence of their daughter Rosalie, the Snedens were reconciled and on June 27, 1898, Justice Bartlett granted an order of discontinuance in the separation proceedings.

LITTLE JOHNNIE IS YOUNG YET.

Little Johnnie doesn't like to be kissed, but sometimes he is compelled by some gushing friends of his mother to submit to the ordeal. The last time they called he went through the operation as gracefully as possible, but after their departure he remarked, vigorously rubbing the powder from his face meanwhile: "Mamma, I don't like to have them kiss me. It tastes just like kissing a marshmallow."—Lippincott's.

THE AMUSING SULTAN.

An interview with the Sultan of Turkey has its amusing side. That monarch is not supposed officially to know any language but his own. An interpreter thunders his majesty's questions at the visitor, then cringes with awe as he listens to the words of his royal master. The contrast is close to the ridiculous. At the conclusion of the interview the sultan rises and says quietly in the visitor's language or in French: "Now that our business is over, will you join me in my study and have a cup of coffee?"

[illegible] recall and that the [illegible] officers who [illegible] Braun would [illegible] ished.

On May [illegible] [illegible]

Braun alleged that this [illegible] of his character was printed [illegible] paper [illegible] Austro-Hungary as is the custom in official [illegible] of this sort. M. Braun denied the charges against him and said they were examined in [illegible] sion appointed by Governor Roosevelt of New York and found to be [illegible]. Mr Storer [illegible] said the important question was whether the [illegible] acted with the knowledge of superiors; that Braun had been most indiscreet and offensive in his interviews etc; had never presented [illegible] the proper ministry any credentials as to coming as an official but sought notoriety as an influential personage charged with confidential instructions [illegible] right to be noticed as a person "feared by the Hungarian government." The foreign office asserted that no superior official had knowledge of any tampering with his mail. Mr Storer also said:

"Braun is said to have been urging intended emigrants to go to Canada by the trust line instead of to New York by the Cunard."

Mr Storer included a copy of the police order issued by the Hungarian authorities [illegible] instructing officers to apprehend Marcus Braun charged with the crime of fraud. Mr Storer stated that the Hungarian government accepted all responsibility as to the identity of this individual with Mr Braun. Mr Storer also made reference to statements published by Mr Braun in Hungarian newspapers that he knew he never could obtain satisfaction in a Hungarian court and consequently had no thought of bringing criminal or civil action for the statements published.

A letter from Braun to the department of commerce and labor stated that his character had been assailed by Hajos Sandor who he asserted was in close touch with the Austrian consulate at New York.

In a statement by Mr Braun to Minister Storer he asserted that the antagonism dated back to his report on the new Hungarian immigration law and to 1893 when as a reporter for American newspapers he wrote about Dr. Anton von Paljtschek commissioner general of Austria at the Chicago world's fair and Austrian consul general at New York. He charged that the action against him was planned by Dr Alexander Sellev councilor of the Hungarian minister of the interior because of steamboat interests. Mr Braun charged that Count Tisza inspired the conspiracy against him.

Mr Loomis cabled Mr Storer that Braun had been withdrawn. The minister of foreign affairs expressed his thanks and said he "had had great difficulty [illegible] holding back the Hungarian government from expelling Braun shortly after his arrival on account of threats of the influence his [illegible] [illegible] Hungarian government published [illegible] A [illegible] of Mr Storer to Secretary Hay [illegible] article printed [illegible] Mr Braun said the [illegible] [illegible]

BATTLESHIP DIVISION SAILS FOR TRINIDAD

WASHINGTON, Feb 8.—The battleship division of the Atlantic fleet with a tender has sailed from Culebra for Trinidad. It is said at the navy department that this movement has nothing to do with the Venezuelan situation although the Venezuela coast is only a few miles distant from Trinidad.

The armored cruisers of the same fleet have also sailed from Culebra, but they are bound for some of the Windward Islands to give the sailors brief shore leave.

VALENCIA BOATS LOWERED TOO SOON

VICTORIA, B C, Feb 8.—At the government investigation of the Valencia disaster today, Quartermaster Tarpy continuing his evidence, said Captain J J Johnson did not order the boats lowered to the water. His orders were to lower them to the saloon rail and lash them but they were lowered. He did not know who was responsible for them being lowered. The starboard boats would have lived, through the night had they remained at the saloon rail and would have saved many passengers. "There would have been 50 times more chance for the boats to save passengers than in the night after the steamer struck. The sea was rough then. Soon after the steamer struck the chief officer told them they had hit the rocks somewhere between Umatilla reef and Cape Flattery."

CLAYOQUOT, B C, Feb 8.—The body of a well-dressed man has been picked up by an Indian on Long Beach near Schooner cove. Papers found in the pocket identify the corpse as that of Harry Woolridge, one of the victims of the Valencia. A bible was found in his pocket with the name inside. This is the 38th body recovered from the Valencia.

SMOOT CASE NEARS END

TESTIMONY AGAINST MORMON SENATOR WILL PROBABLY BE CONCLUDED TODAY.

CHAIRMAN BURROWS INSISTS ON MAKING REPORT TO THE SENATE THIS SESSION

WASHINGTON, Feb [illegible] testimony of the protestants [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] Chairman Burrows said [illegible]

During his testimony Mr Lawrence referred [illegible] the priesthood that existed during his membership [illegible] Chairman Burrows asked [illegible] existed today. The witness said that there was more liberality now than [illegible] but that a man who desired to remain in good standing must obey the [illegible] in all things.

In regard to the teachings of the church he said that nowhere in the books was there to be found anything directed toward loyalty to the government and they sang a song containing the line "Brigham Young is our king." He said from the teaching he had heard he believed that the teachings were the same today. He said the revelation of polygamy must be believed by a good church member whether he practiced it or not, for to suspend or revelation would be to suspend them all.

Mr. Lawrence testified that he had been credibly informed that the Woodruff manifesto had been opposed by a quorum of the apostles and therefore was of no force and effect. He declined to reveal the name of his informant on the ground that it would injure him and was permitted to withdraw his statement.

C M Owen who has been employed in getting evidence against Mr Smoot, was then called. Mr Carlisle submitted a list of members of the constitutional convention, all the members of the legislatures, state officers and others who have held office since Utah was admitted to statehood. Mr Owen marked the list showing that two-thirds of every legislature were Mormons, that in each legislature there had been from one to ten polygamists, and in the constitutional convention out of 115 members there were 59 Mormons, 30 of whom were polygamists. The supreme court was gentile, he said, and the other courts mixed.

Mr Worthington sought to show that two-thirds of the Utah population was Mormon, but Mr Owen said he did not think this was true at the present time.

The committee adjourned until tomorrow. Mr Carlisle said he thought he could close the protestants' case at the forenoon session.

HANDWRITING EXPERT FAILS FOR MANN

NEW YORK, Feb 8.—Edwin B Hay, a handwriting expert was the first witness today in the trial of Colonel W D Mann, editor of Town Topics on a charge of perjury. The witness was called by the prosecution. He was questioned about the characters "O K W D M" which it is alleged Colonel Mann wrote on a letter from Count Reginald Ward. Answering questions put by Martin W Littleton, Colonel Mann's counsel as to the "O K" the witness said:

"It has no resemblance whatever to the other pieces of handwriting admitted to be specimens of Colonel Mann's handwriting."

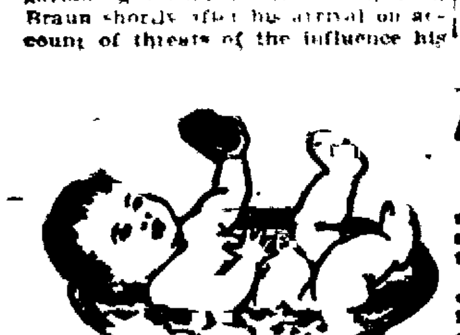

The cross-examination of the witness Hay occupied the afternoon session, the questioning following the lines laid out during the morning.

REVOLUTIONISTS ARE SUMMARILY PUNISHED.

RIGA, Feb 8.—A punitive expedition has captured a large band of revolutionists on the Dahlen estate, in the vicinity of Riga. Fifteen of them have been tried by court martial and shot. The others were flogged with knouts. The expedition also captured several hundred rifles.

THE HEPBURN BILL.

THE PASSAGE of the Hepburn rate bill by the House yesterday by the overwhelming vote of 346 to 7 indicates a desire on the part of the lower branch of the national legislature to get this tremendous problem settled and over with as soon as possible. It was virtually known that the measure would pass the House by a substantial majority, but the real opposition to it will be encountered in the Senate, where the Esch-Townsend bill was killed in the last session.

It is argued for the Hepburn bill that it does not give the Interstate Commerce Commission the power to initiate rates, the authority of that body being limited to the readjustment of rates already existing. The commission is to be increased from five to seven members, each of whom is to receive $10,000 salary a year. The commission will hear complaints, investigate and decide whether or not the rate complained of is unreasonable, and in case it is found to be unreasonable, fix one which it deems proper, which is thereafter to be the maximum rate. After a rate has been announced by the commission it may be set aside or suspended by the courts or the commission at any time within a period of thirty days, after which, if still unchanged, it goes into effect and remains the rate for three years.

Chairman Hepburn declares that this bill is the result of several years' consideration by the committee, and embodies the best features of the nineteen bills before the committee and the information contained in five volumes of hearings before both House and Senate committees. It is advocated by the men who initiated and led the fight for rate control last year, notably Representative Townsend of Michigan, one of the authors of the Esch-Townsend bill. Its opponents argue that it is only a half-way measure at best and can not accomplish the purposes sought. It is hardly to be supposed that this bill or any other would entirely remedy the evils which have given rise to the present situation, but at least it is a step toward the reform so badly needed, which, after all, is something.

ILLITERATE IMMIGRANTS.

In a night school in Kansas City last week, only two Italians in a class of thirty knew the name of the President of the United States. The incident is not exceptional. We remember reading of an examination conducted by a judge in Harrisburg, Pa., two or three years ago, to determine the fitness for citizenship of several aliens. In reply to questions, one of them said that Matt Quay was President of the United States, and that there were sixty-two states in the union. Another candidate, an Austrian, after correctly giving the name of the Emperor of his native country, was asked if there is an Emperor of America. "Yes," he answered. "Who is he?" "The Pope."

It is all very well to say that this country needs cheap labor, and that it is big enough for all comers, but when we reflect that we are getting about one million immigrants a year of the kind here described, it is time to think of what it means to the future. For the last thirty or forty years the population of the United States has increased at an average rate of ten millions each decade. Now we are getting that much increase from immigration alone. Most of these aliens will never make good citizens because they have neither the inclination nor the ability to learn American ways, yet they readily secure citizenship papers and all of them vote. The fact that the thirty Kansas City Italians referred to were attending a night school is encouraging, or, to be more exact, it would be if the practice of attending school was more general among such people. The great majority of them show an inclination only to earn all the money they can and then get out of the country, and incidentally to vote the way some political boss tells them to.

THE CASE OF JUSTICE DEUEL.

THE TROUBLE in which Justice Deuel of New York got himself through his libel suit against the editor of Collier's did not end with the termination of the case in court. The plaintiff emerged from the suit in much the position of a man who has been kicked over by a gun he tries to shoot. His personal reputation is gone and his judicial ermine is sadly besmirched, but all this seems to worry him not a bit. In reply to pointed questions and gentle hints concerning his future course he declares that he has not the slightest intention of resigning, and that at no time has he contemplated such action. Perhaps this decision is a good thing for the public and for the integrity of the New York courts, for it opens the way for his unceremonious removal, which would be more salutary than a mere resignation.

Justice Deuel enlisted the services of the wrong man when, in filing a suit for criminal libel, he got District Attorney Jerome to prosecute his case. Mr. Jerome has admitted that he himself was partly responsible for the publication of the article in Collier's which excited Deuel's wrath, and he bluntly advised the jury to return a verdict for the defendant. It will be remembered that the objectionable phrase in the editorial which caused the suit was an assertion that Justice Deuel's connection with Town Topics made him unfit to sit on the bench. It is naturally to be supposed that as Mr. Jerome partly inspired the publication of this assertion he will now proceed against the offending jurist under the law which forbids a justice engaging in business.

A transcript of the testimony given by Deuel in the Hapgood trial will be brought before the Appellate Division of the Supreme court and that body will decide whether the Justice's connection with Town Topics was of such character as to constitute an infraction of the law. If he is convicted he can not complain that he has not had a fair trial, for he will be tried by Justices who are themselves subject to the same law, and who are not likely to be swayed by popular clamor. It is hardly to be supposed that he will be acquitted for he has testified under oath that he is a stockholder in and part manager of the publishing firm which issues Town Topics.

Enough of this man's character was exposed in the Hapgood trial to convince the public that he is absolutely unfit to sit on the bench. That a self-confessed blackmailer and scandal-monger should be a justice of a high criminal court is a disgrace to the city of New York, and goes far to substantiate the charges against the judiciary of the state made by District Attorney Jerome in a speech a few months ago. There is reason to believe that Deuel is not the only member of the New York judiciary who ought to be removed, for it is commonly charged that under the Tammany regime appointments to the bench have been sold like merchandise, sometimes going to the highest bidder. It is fortunate for the cause of decency that Deuel brought his famous libel suit, for in no other way would these facts have been exposed.

CHAMBERS WITHDRAWS.

THE REFUSAL of R. L. Chambers to accept the postmastership of Colorado Springs after the office was fairly within his grasp at once simplifies and complicates the situation. It is simplified to the extent that the hot race between Mr. Chambers and Postmaster Dana is ended, but the matter is by no means settled. Mr. Chambers did not withdraw in favor of Mr. Dana, and there are indications that those who have so far opposed the present incumbent are likely to do so with redoubled vigor from now until the Senate has confirmed the appointment of the man, whoever he may be, who will preside over the local postoffice for the next four years.

The reasons given by Mr. Chambers for his withdrawal are admirable. Those who best know the circumstances in the case are aware that he did not seek the office in the first place, and only became a candidate after having been strongly urged by his friends and the party leaders. At that time there was no indication that the fight would engender the bitterness since shown, but the campaign made by Postmaster Dana has been aggressive in the extreme. In his statement to the press yesterday Mr. Chambers said that he believed the interests of the party in Colorado Springs could best be served by his declination of the office, hence his sudden and unexpected action.

It is unfortunate that events have so shaped themselves as to bring about this condition, and in view of all the circumstances Mr. Chambers must be given full credit for his manly attitude in sacrificing himself for the good of his party. His withdrawal by no means gives the victory to his opponent; indeed it would not be surprising if an entirely new set of candidates appeared on the scene. When it comes to saying who the next postmaster of Colorado Springs will be one guess is about as good as another.

A Paris dispatch says that Count Boni is crazed with grief over the prospects of being divorced from his wife. If this is the case, what must be his state of mind over the prospects of being divorced from his wife's money?

The member of the New York legislature who says that that body ought to do something or go home need not worry. The legislature is likely to do the people, and do them well, before it even thinks of going home.

It is announced from Algeciras that Germany will go to almost any extreme to avoid a rupture with France. The German spies must have discovered that France's military strength is greater than they had supposed.

The funniest thing about the latest Patterson flop is that some of the Eastern papers are inclined to take the Colorado contortionist seriously. Which merely shows that they don't know Tommy.

LIEUT. PIKE'S DIARY

For One Hundred Years Ago Today

SUNDAY, 5th February, 1806.—Mr. M'Gillis and myself paid a visit to Mr. Anderson, who resided at the west end of the lake, found him highly situated as to trade, but his houses bad. I rode into a carriole for one person, constructed in the following manner, boards placed smooth, turned up in front about two feet, coming to a point, and about two and a half feet wide behind; on which is fixed a box, covered with dressed [illegible] hog [illegible] but covered in front about two-thirds of the length; the horse is fastened between the shafts, the rider wraps himself up in a buffalo robe, sits flat down, having a cushion to lean his back against; thus accoutred with a fur cap, &c., he may bid defiance to the wind and weather.

Upon our return, we found that some of the Indians had already returned from the hunting camps; also Monsieur Rivarand, the gentleman supposed to have been killed by the Indians; his arrival with Mr. Grant, differed a general satisfaction through the fort.

THE SOCIAL WEAPON OF RIDICULE.

Ridicule is quite as effective as social ostracism to rid the time of some of its abuses. It is in addition, much more likely to be applied. Imposters of every class are probably numerous enough to keep themselves in tolerable countenance, and they may care little for the snubs of the masses, for they may know little of them. They can avoid them. But ridicule has a "preaching" way with it that probably quite be, and the sphere of those who use it.

One prominent New York family—social leaders—left this country and established themselves in London for, no other reason in the world than that they could not stand the acidulous fun poked at them after a ball that is still famous. The people laughed such crass display of wealth out of existence—for the period at least. Mr. James Hazen Hyde encountered no social ostracism in Newport after his total inaptitude for large responsibility was uncovered. But the contemptuous wit of the public at his expense—more than any fear of financial penalties—has turned his heart to Paris.

It is probably true that everyone loves to be laughed with and everyone hates to be laughed at. One can understand Mr. John D. Rockefeller's delight in being joined to the American Press Humorists. And from that understanding it can be imagined how the humor of the press and the public upsets his complacency. It requires no acute sense of humor to feel the force of jibes of which one is the butt. The piety of Mr. Rockefeller perhaps shields him from the pangs of conscience, but it and all else are impotent against the subtle attacks of ridicule. One conscious absurdity like that of "the American Beauty rose" may be far more painful than disseminated proof of [illegible] affidavits concerning rebates.

Satirists have always been the most efficient antagonists of sham and hypocrisy. From Swift to Thackeray—embracing those English humorists with whom the American public is most familiar—they have pretty nearly marked epochs in changing manners. And what are the chief evils of these days if they are not sham and hypocrisy?

The impostures of that class of politicians who make pretense of zeal for public welfare and are out for the selfish main chance; trading in inherited names—without inherited brains; nominal services as directors to mislead public confidence; abuse of trust relationship under the guise of "business" necessity; snobbish affectations of aristocracy—what are all these but hypocrisy and sham?

And what weapon will be more effective to penetrate the veneer and make way for law and morality than ridicule? The American nation has the unfailing characteristic of the humorist—it sees things clearly. This quality will not only furnish the most powerful agency against the violators of law—the practitioners of false pretense—but will preserve the level head and moderate temper which a free people must have to maintain its freedom.—Kansas City Star.

PATTERSON'S MOTIVE.

"His term of service will expire March 3, 1907." Such is the last sentence of the Congressional Directory's sketch of Senator Patterson, of Colorado, who yesterday announced his conversion to the President's Dominican policy. Singularly, the other so-called "White House Democrats" who are counted upon to get the Dominican treaty through the senate, are also senators whose terms of service expire March 3, 1907. Senators have a way of wishing to be re-elected. Even Morgan at 81 and Pettus at 84 say they will seek another term. The term may expire, but senatorial ambition never does. And the fact of being in good standing at the White house, with a little incidental patronage, is supposed to be a great help in convincing a legislature that the candidate for re-election is the man above all others to represent the state in the senate. Now, we are as far as possible from asserting that Senator Patterson's sudden transformation from a violent opponent of President Roosevelt into an ardent supporter has any connection with his own political ambitions. We are for freedom of opinion and disregard of party trammels, and it may be that Mr. Patterson is also, and that he is actuated by the highest motives in breaking with his Democratic colleagues. But he must know that all the Washington gossip is to the contrary. New York Evening Post.

Higher Pay Is Needed For Foreign Service.

Salaries of Diplomatic and Consular Staffs Are Utterly Inadequate. Fat Posts Only for the Rich.

YOU can scarcely blame Congress for getting on a rampage about the big salaries paid to the secretary of the Panama commission and other officials of that organization, because they make the compensation of the ministers and consuls abroad look very small, says William E. Curtis in the Chicago Record-Herald. There should be a revision of Uncle Sam's pay rolls. The president of the United States should receive at least $100,000 a year; the vice president and the members of the cabinet should get at least $15,000—$25,000 would be better; the supreme court justices should have the same amount, and $10,000 a year is not a cent too much for a congressman. Since the present salary list was arranged, there has been a decided increase in the cost of living in this country, and it has come to the point where it is easier for a poor man to pass through the eye of a needle than to hold an office in Washington or in the diplomatic corps of the United States.

Secretary Root has made an earnest appeal to congress for a revision of the diplomatic and consular bill, and said it is to be hoped that Mr. Hale and Mr. Hitt, who have charge of the diplomatic and consular bill, will accept his suggestions. As a rule, the committees of congress do not pay much attention to the recommendations of the members of the cabinet in such matters. They do not even read the book of estimates. I doubt if the subcommittees in charge of the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill have read the estimates for years, and they pay no attention to letters. They pass the same bill over and over every year, without any changes, except possibly, when somebody of influence has a son in the service and is compelled to send him money because his salary is not sufficient for his support. In such cases, the father goes to the committee and begs for an increase. Sometimes he gets it and sometimes he doesn't. Usually the latter is the case.

Hay Refused to "Lobby."

The late Secretary Hay often urged congress to revise the list, but he always wrote letters to the committees, who paid no attention to them. He would never go to the capitol personally. He thought it undignified for the secretary of state to go down there and "lobby," as he used to say, for legislation that had been recommended in his official capacity. If Secretary Root expects to accomplish anything, however, if he really wants the diplomatic and consular salaries revised, he will have to go down and sit up with the appropriations committee until it is done. He will also be compelled to start a propaganda for the purpose of converting the members of the senate and house of representatives to the application of the golden rule. He must teach them the doctrine that other officials of the government are entitled to liberal salaries which they have not the moral courage to vote for themselves. Every other congressman he meets will tell him that the president has never found any difficulty in filling the missions and the consulates at the compensation paid at present, and that there is no danger that he will be compelled to order a draft to fill the offices.

That is the usual argument. But at the same time they know that poor men cannot accept certain offices under this government because the salaries attached to them are not sufficient to support them in the manner in which they must live. If Whitelaw Reid, Robert S. McCormick, Bellamy Storer, Charlemagne Tower and George B. L. Meyer were not rich men, they would not be ambassadors. Not one of them would be eligible. The first question asked by a president or a secretary of state when a candidate is named for an embassy concerns not his character, but his income. Can he afford to accept the place? To a certain measure the same is true of the secretaries of embassies and legations. Not one of them can live upon his salary and keep up the appearances that are required of men in his position. I once found a secretary of a legation living in a garret and taking his meals on what are familiarly known as "free lunch routes." His salary was $1,500 a year. He had a wife and five children at his former home in this country, and sent them one-half of his pay, as a good husband and father should do, and then tried to live like a gentleman on the other half, which was impossible.

Cost of Living Has Increased.

There are certain obligations resting upon the representatives of a nation at a foreign capital. They must appear in such a manner as to avoid criticism and unfavorable comment; they must have a knowledge of social life and sufficient means to return the hospitality that is offered them. They must be able to dress well and conform to social usages, which it is impossible for many of our ministers to do on the salaries and allowances which they receive—and [illegible] as they are compelled to hire a house to live in. Almost every nation in the world except the United States provides official residences for its diplomatic and consular representatives, and it would be economy for us to do so. The expenses of living have more than doubled, but the salaries of our representatives were fixed, rents have advanced in every city in the world. The cost of living has increased everywhere—rent, food, clothing, servants, fuel and light, and every other household expense is from 30 to 100 per cent greater than it was twenty years ago.

We own one legation only, and that is in China. It was built with a congressional appropriation [illegible] Boxer troubles. We own a very valuable and convenient piece of ground in Tokio, which was presented to us by the Japanese government. But congress refused to appropriate money to build a legation on it, and the man who happened to be minister there at the time of presentation erected one at his own expense, from which he has been receiving an annual income of $3,000 in the way of rental ever since. The building has paid for itself many times over.

In Turkey, China, Siam and other oriental countries it is alway difficult to find a building for a legation, because most of the houses are planned after the native style, and are not adapted to the use of Americans. I believe there is only one building in all Constantinople that can be rented for legation purposes. Mr. Leishmann occupies that, and he has repeatedly urged our government to purchase it, because if the Italian widow who now owns the property should sell it to some one else it would be impossible to get another place, and our minister would have to rent rooms in a hotel. Every other nation owns its legation in the capitals of the world, and in almost every case, its consulates also. It is not only a matter of dignity and convenience, but a measure of economy. Congress, however, has invariably refused to make appropriations for this purpose.

Clerks Are Foreigners.

In nearly every consulate it is necessary to employ a foreigner—a native of the country—to serve as clerk, because the salary is so small that no American can afford to accept the position. Half of the clerks at United States consulates throughout the world receive less than $600 a year as full compensation for their services. Many of them receive only $500. That is the salary of the clerk of the consulates at several important capitals, and such positions are almost all held by intelligent, faithful efficient men—natives of the country—who are trying to exist and educate their families on that income.

Secretary Root recommends a permanent consular corps, with fixed salaries and promotion for merit. In other words, he wants the higher positions to be filled by the promotion of those who have shown themselves competent and useful in lower positions. He also recommends the passage of a law forbidding consuls to collect fees. That should have been done years ago. No official of the government, at home or abroad, should be allowed to charge a fee or any pay for any services in connection with his office, and his salary should be increased so that he would not find it necessary. The permission to charge fees has continually provoked scandals. Scarcely a month passes without some consul being accused of extortion, and not long ago, when a certain consul was charged with blackmailing, he confessed that he was compelled to resort to that method in order to raise enough money to pay his living expenses. The government paid him no salary, but permitted him to charge fees for services rendered. As his legitimate revenues were not sufficient to pay his actual expenses, he was compelled to resort to illegitimate measures to increase his income.

Formerly the fee system was very much more liberal than it is at present. The perquisites of the consular corps have been curtailed several times, until they are now down to a minimum. There has been no corresponding advance in salaries, however, which is a grave injustice. All fees should be abolished, and salaries should be advanced to $2,500 per annum or more, according to the importance of the position. No official representative of the United States can live in a suitable manner for less than $2,500 a year in any country, and yet we have a large number on $2,000, $1,500 and even less than that per year.

Serious Drains on Consuls.

It is not true that living is less expensive in Europe than it is in the country, and persons who accept consulates at small salaries under that impression soon discover their mistake. The same amount of comfort and luxury costs the same amount of money wherever a man may live—whether it be Europe, Asia, Africa or America.

The demands upon consuls for charity are a severe tax, and the government should have a fund—as other governments do—for such purposes. It frequently occurs that an American citizen—sometimes a woman and sometimes a child—is stranded in a foreign city, whether from their own fault or not, and there is no one to whom they can appeal except their consul. If the stranded person happens to be a sailor, he can be sent home at government expense, but otherwise, the consul is compelled to put his hand down in his own pocket or collect a fund among his fellow-countrymen to defray the necessary expenses. He cannot help doing so; the laws of humanity and public opinion will not permit him to refuse relief to a countryman in distress, and out of the small salary allowed him by his government he is often compelled to pay a considerable sum to relieve or send home entire strangers. In several cities, where there are a number of American residents, societies have been organized and funds raised to relieve the distress of their countrymen and send home those who have lost or wasted their money or had their letters of credit stolen, as is often the case.

Some years ago, as an illustration, I happened to be in a Spanish city when the American consul was appealed to by a very respectable-looking woman and her two daughters, who claimed to have been robbed of all their money and valuables, including their letter of credit. The proprietor of their hotel was about to turn them into the street. They represented that they did not know anyone to whom they could appeal; that they had left the husband and father in South America to secure a contract for building a railroad and that he had sent them home via Spain, Paris and London, with sufficient money to pay their expenses. They had been four weeks on their journey and had not heard from him in the meantime and did not know where he was. They expected to find letters from him on their arrival at London. And there they were.

The consul was a man of small means, with a salary of $2,000, and there were no other Americans in the town except a few mechanics. If he permitted this woman and her daughters to be turned out of the hotel, it would be an everlasting scandal against his name, so the only recourse was to guarantee their board bill, pay their expenses to London, and wait for them to hear from their rightful protector. He was compelled to take that risk, and invested about $240 on his faith in their honesty. His faith was justified, however, and in due time he received a draft and a letter full of gratitude.

All consuls particularly those stationed at the seaports in Europe are often compelled to devote 20 per cent of their annual salaries to charity, and there is no way to reimburse them.

Entire System Ought to Be Changed.

The entire consular system should be reorganized. Appointments should be permanent and should be made at the bottom, with promotions for efficiency, and with salaries and allowances of sufficient size to enable them to live in a manner appropriate and fitting to the dignity of their offices. Consuls should be required to speak the language of the country in which they are stationed; they should not be allowed to engage in business or charge fees for any service, and they should have a permanent residence provided them by the government.

In countries where appearances are everything the consul of the United States is too often without influence either with the government or the people because of his small compensation and the humble manner in which he lives. Democratic simplicity does not pass current in foreign countries, and however worthy the consul may be in character and intelligence, his importance is measured by the manner in which he lives. Wherever you go the British consul will be found occupying an imposing house and living in a manner appropriate to the dignity of his government. The same may be said of British ambassadors and ministers plenipotentiary, and the diplomatic representatives of all other European governments are much better taken care of than our own. The British ambassador in Washington receives salary and allowances equal to the salary of the president of the United States, nearly three times as much as the American ambassador in London. He is provided with an appropriate residence, while our representative in London is compelled to pay all his salary for house rent. The Mexican ambassador at Washington receives twice as much salary as the American ambassador in Mexico, and is given a handsome house to live in, while our ambassador to Mexico is compelled to pay his own rent.

COD LIVER OIL

It almost makes you sick to think of it, but it isn't nearly as bad as it used to be. The improved method of refining it makes it much easier to take, and when made into Scott's Emulsion almost every one can take it. Most children like it and all children that are not robust are benefited by it. When the doctor says "Take cod liver oil," he generally means Scott's Emulsion; ask him if he doesn't. They know it is more easily digested and better than the plain oil.

OPPORTUNITY.

They do me wrong who say I come no more
When once I knock and fail to find you in;
For every day I stand outside your door,
And bid you wake, and rise to fight and win.

Wail not for precious chances passed away,
Weep not for golden ages on the wane!
Each night I burn the records of the day;
At sunrise every soul is born again.

Laugh like a boy at splendors that have sped,
To vanished joys be blind and deaf and dumb;
My judgments seal the dead past with its dead,
But never bind a moment yet to come.

Though deep in mire wring not your hands and weep;
I lend my arm to all who say "I can!"
No shamefaced outcast ever sank so deep
But yet might rise and be a man!

Dost thou behold thy lost youth all aghast?
Dost thou feel from righteous retribution's blow?
Then turn from blotted archives of the past
And find the future's pages white as snow.

—Walter Malone.

INTERESTING PERSONAL RELIC.

Major S. H. M. Byers of Des Moines, Ia., recently visited the old Confederate prison at Columbia, S. C., where he was confined as a prisoner during the civil war. He escaped by crawling a hole through the building. While looking over the scene of his escape of forty years ago, he discovered the very hole and had the surrounding boards cut out and the relic shipped to his home.

COWBOYS TO BE ENJOINED

ACCUSED OF GIVING RECKLESS AND ILL-BEHAVED DANCES.

SCHOOL BOARD OF DISTRICT NO. 36 ASKS INJUNCTION AGAINST OBDURATE RANGE RIDERS.

So wrought up is the school board of district No. 36 over the alleged "reckless" and ill behaved dances given in the school building by a band of cowpunchers, that it has asked the district court for an order restraining any further dances or parties.

School district No. 36 is in the extreme southwestern part of El Paso county. The defendants named in the complaint filed today are Guy Parker, J. W. Conlow, Ernest Keeton, and Fred Cross. Parker has gained considerable newspaper and magazine fame through numerous articles appearing about his prowess as an artist, while the others are well known riders of the range. The school board is composed of C. A. Dockum and H. D. Outhier.

According to the complaint, it has been the practice of the cowboys to give frequent dances at the school house, although they have been warned repeatedly not to do so. This warning, the board says, has not been heeded. The school room has been broken into by those giving the dances and the stove and furniture moved about at will.

The crowds attending these dances, says the school board, are ill-behaved and reckless, and their actions have a bad moral effect upon the residents and school children. The cowboys, it is further alleged, not only refuse to comply with the board's requests to stay away, but threaten to keep up the dances whenever it suits them.

CHICAGO WON BASKETBALL

DEFEATED LOCAL Y. M. C. A. TEAM BY A SCORE OF 43 TO 18—ANOTHER GAME SATURDAY NIGHT.

A large audience last night witnessed the hardest fought basketball game ever played in the gymnasium of the Y. M. C. A., in which the local team was defeated by a score of 43 to 18 by the Meteor team of the Chicago Central Y. M. C. A.

Manager C. W. Hahn of the Chicago team last night said, "Our team played the best game they have played since they left Chicago."

The local boys made a hard fight for victory, but the Chicago team was too fast for them. The score at the end of the first half stood 28 to 7 in favor of the Meteors, so that the result of the last half showed that the local team was beginning to spoil some of its opponent's tricks.

A preliminary game between the intermediate team of the local Y. M. C. A. and the Manitou team was played. The result was a score of 14 to 10 in favor of the intermediates.

Another game between the Meteors and the local team will be played Saturday night at the Y. M. C. A.

FEHRINGER IS UNDER ARREST

CHARGED WITH SELLING LIQUOR TO A MINOR ON SUNDAY.

PRISONER RELEASED ON HIS OWN $200 BOND. CASE ONCE TRIED IN POLICE COURT.

Although he is no longer the proprietor of a drug store, having sold his last store early this week, Otto Fehringer is again in the hands of the courts.

He was arrested last evening upon a warrant from Justice Ruby's court, charging him with the sale of liquor to a minor on Sunday, December 31. Mrs. Mary Bishop, mother of Ray Bishop, a 13-year-old boy, swore to the complaint. Fehringer answered a summons to justice court last night and was at once released on his own bond of $200.

The same case was tried several weeks ago in police court and Fehringer was found not guilty. Ray Bishop was placed on the witness stand and testified that he had purchased a quart bottle of Duffy's malt whisky at the drug store, 26 South Tejon street, and that he became so intoxicated that he "didn't know nothing until about 4 o'clock the next morning," when he found himself in bed at his home. He admitted that he had first tried to get the whisky without an order and was refused by Fehringer. Later he returned and, upon presenting a forged order, was given the liquor, for which he paid $1.

JERRY J. COGAN TO BE MARRIED

WELL KNOWN RAILROAD MAN TO WED CANON CITY GIRL IN CALIFORNIA—TO LIVE HERE.

Jerry J. Cogan, assistant general manager and treasurer of the Short Line, Midland Terminal, Florence & Cripple Creek and affiliated railroads, has gone to California to be married. He left Colorado Springs three days ago on a "vacation," but it was learned yesterday that his mission was to worship at the altar of Hymen.

When he reaches Los Angeles he will marry Miss Tina Penny, an accomplished society girl of Canon City, after which Mr. and Mrs. Cogan will spend three weeks traveling in the Pacific coast states.

Mr. Cogan is well known in Colorado Springs. Since the general offices of the Short Line were moved here last summer, Mr. Cogan has resided at the Alamo hotel, and it is said that he will bring his bride to the Alamo when they return in March. As assistant to General Manager Jesse H. Waters, Mr. Cogan is one of the best known railroad men in Colorado, and the news of his wedding trip will be of especial interest in the Cripple Creek district, where Mr. Cogan lived for many years.

WOMAN DOCTOR SUED BY PATIENT

"ELECTRO-BIOLOGIST" FAILED TO HEAL, AND COURTS AID IS ASKED TO RECOVER $130 IN FEES.

Because her alleged healing powers failed to get results, Mrs. E. M. Gill, 217 South Fourth street, who advertises herself as an electro-biologist, and who claims to be able to cure any and all chronic diseases without the use of drugs or a knife, is being sued by Mrs. Louise Schneider, a cook, employed at 1524 North Nevada avenue, for $130 alleged to have been paid for a guaranteed cure. In the papers, which were filed Wednesday evening in the county court, Mrs. Schneider alleges that she received absolutely no benefit from the defendant.

SANTA FE MAY ERECT FINE $20,000 OFFICE BUILDING IN THIS CITY

A $20,000 city ticket and freight office building in Colorado Springs is projected by the Santa Fe system. It is said that preliminary plans are now being drawn at the Santa Fe general offices at Topeka, Kan., and that the company's supervising architect will be in this city within a month to select a suitable site for the building.

According to C. C. Hoyt, city ticket agent of the Santa Fe, the company has considered erecting an office building in the Springs for several years. The Santa Fe has a handsome building in Pueblo, in which is situated the city ticket office and freight departments and it is said that the Colorado Springs building will be similar to the Pueblo structure.

MAYOR H. C. HALL EXERCISES RIGHT TO VOTE IN COUNCIL

Hydro-Electric Report to Be Considered Monday Night. No Action on Liquor Licenses or Curb Line Ordinance.—Routine Business.

With the Hydro-Electric report side-tracked for want of time, the feature of last night's meeting of the city council was the vote cast by Mayor Hall to adjourn at 11 o'clock when the eight aldermen had voted a tie. It was the first time the mayor has had an opportunity to exercise his right since the decision handed down by the district court and it caused an adjournment of a meeting which would probably have lasted all night.

Ordinance Referred.

Water Superintendent Hopkins' report on the alleged violations of the Hydro-Electric company of its franchise did not reach the council chamber from the stenographer's hands until 10 o'clock. At that time the aldermen were debating the proposed uniform curb line ordinance, the discussion of which occupied the greater part of the meeting. The same points that were discussed some weeks ago were gone over again and the ordinance was referred back to the street committee and the city engineer.

A communication was read from General Palmer, calling attention to the city's promise to appropriate $1,000 for work being done at Dorchester park. He has spent $5,000 on the improvement and it will require about half of that amount to complete the work as outlined. Council decided that the amount could not be given this year, as there was no appropriation made, but it was the sense of the meeting that $1,000 be provided in the next annual appropriation.

To Abandon Work.

Alderman Hublin, chairman of the committee to arrange for the right-of-way for a new channel for Fountain creek, recommended that all of the proposed work be abandoned. The reason given was that the city was unable to arrive at an agreement with property owners along the line of the proposed channel whereby the city would not be liable for damages caused by an overflow of water. Each alderman voted to drop all negotiations and further to advise the Midland road and the county commissioners of the action.

A prior agreement with the county commissioners was that the city and county should both stand a share of the expense in repairing the 200-foot bridge across Fountain creek. The county has completed its part of the agreement and the aldermen did not think the city would be held liable for its uncompleted part of the work when the situation was explained. The check for $100 given as a guarantee by George Crawford, a contractor who was previously awarded a verbal contract to do the work, was ordered returned.

Liquor Licenses.

An application, accompanied by a check for $500, asking for a liquor license for the F. H. Mu... company, 26 South Tejon street, was held for action at the next regular meeting. A similar application for a ... South Tejon street was ... Both properties were recently purchased from Otto Fehringer.

A letter was read from Attorney S. H. Kinsley inquiring into the status of the claim for damages presented against the city several months ago by Dr. J. T. Eskill. The alleged injuries were caused by a fall into an excavation in the street in front of 531 East Tejon street. The communication was referred to the city attorney and the finance committee to report back.

The appointment by Mayor Hall of J. H. Guthrie as a special police officer without pay was confirmed.

A petition for an arc light at the intersection of Weber and Espanola streets was granted unanimously.

Alderman Seldomridge, as chairman of the finance committee, asked that his contract with the El Paso National bank for $5,100 to pay for the Newton Schaffer ranch be affirmed by the council. The money is to be repaid to the bank from the first series of the proposed issue of water bonds, or upon failure of this, by an appropriation. Alderman Tucker moved that the contract be ratified and the motion was carried.

Pool Room Ordinance.

The new pool and billiard room ordinance ... passed. It provides for a fine of $10 for each offense when minors under the age of 18 are allowed to play or visit the rooms. A license fee for one pool or billiard table, and $5 for each additional table is provided for in the ordinance.

While the Hydro-Electric report submitted by Water Superintendent Hopkins did not come up, it is understood that the report is practically the same as that contained in the resolution of Alderman Albin presented several weeks ago. The committee which was appointed to investigate the affairs of the company, composed of Aldermen Albin, Holden, Verner and Seldomridge, will not formulate its report until after the findings of Mr. Hopkins have been taken up in an open council meeting.

The Hydro-Electric report will be considered at a special meeting Monday night.

ALLEGED BANK WRECKERS HERE

ABRAHAM AND ISAAC SCHIFFER WANT CASES CONTINUED TILL THE MAY TERM OF COURT.

Abraham and Isaac Schiffer, the alleged wreckers of the Alamosa bank, spent yesterday in Colorado Springs.

They were accompanied by Attorney T. F. Twitchell of Denver and District Attorney Pilcher of Alamosa. The presence of the quartet in Colorado Springs was to argue a motion before Judge Cunningham for a continuance of their case until the May term of the court at Del Norte. In the meantime, pending the judge's decision, motions to quash and additional briefs will be filed.

The wrecking of the Alamosa bank last October created one of the biggest sensations of the year in Colorado. Scores of people in moderate circumstances, many of them women, were the bank's depositors, and their savings went with the rest. The Schiffer brothers are well known throughout the west and are said to have rich relatives in the east who will stand by them during their trial. Abraham Schiffer disappeared when the condition of his bank became known, but later returned and gave himself up to the authorities.

JURY CONVICTED CONFIDENCE MAN

J. H. JEWETT FOUND GUILTY. Z. A. AUGUR ACQUITTED AND ARRESTED ON BURGLARY CHARGE.

After being out 24 hours, the jury in the case of the People vs. John Hiller Jewett and Z. A. Augur returned a verdict at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Jewett was found guilty of working a confidence game on Harry Copper, and obtaining $332 of his money, while Augur was acquitted. Augur was at once rearrested upon request from Pueblo authorities, who want him on a burglary charge. Counsel for the defendant was given 10 days to file a motion for a new trial.

The case has been one of the most interesting recently tried in the district court. Copper's story is that on the night of December 5 he was on a Rock Island train en route for his home in Canon City, when Jewett and Augur boarded the train. They began matching nickels and dollars, he said, and he finally gave one of the men $332 to keep up the game with the other fellow. Copper took a check for $100 as security, and later found it to be worthless.

F. L. WATERMAN NAMED ASSISTANT CITY TICKET AGENT OF C. R. I. & P.

Fred L. Waterman of El Paso is to succeed Harry L. Youngerman as assistant city ticket agent of the Rock Island system at Colorado Springs. Mr. Waterman arrived in the city early yesterday afternoon and his appointment was announced an hour later by City Agent W. W. Wood.

The appointment of Mr. Waterman to fill the vacancy ends a pretty fight for the position, in which three well known western railroad men have taken part. Mr. Waterman, an assistant in the Rock Island office at Des Moines, Ia., and a Frisco man from the south have been, after Mr. Youngerman's position ... fact that Mr. Waterman ... to reach the ... references he ... the fight.

Mr. Waterman has been with the Rock Island system for six years, and is well known in western railway circles. He will assume his new duties today and Mr. Youngerman, who has been appointed traveling passenger agent, with headquarters at Salt Lake City, will leave for the Mormon city in two weeks.

GIRL WIFE FAILS TO GET DIVORCE

MRS. THOS. E. PIPPEN, 16 YEARS OLD, FAILS TO CONVINCE A DISTRICT ... JURY.

For the first time in many months a divorce has been refused by a jury in the Colorado Springs court.

This condition of affairs arose in the district court when Mrs. Mary Pippen was refused a decree from her husband, Thomas E. Pippen, although the evidence submitted during the trial was practically the same as that usually given in the local courts.

"A mere child wife, she is only 16, told a story that it would be thought a bank would convince any jury that she had been mistreated. She was married last September, and almost from the beginning, she said, she was forced to suffer indignities from her husband, who is many years her senior."

But the jury was unmoved by her story of misery, and W. H. Gandy, foreman, signed a verdict which found the defendant not guilty. The husband made no defense and his attorney, W. H. Barker, admitted the charge of cruelty. Miss Mabel Carter represented Mrs. Pippen, who before her marriage last September, was Macy Shaw.

BIGGEST TOURING CAR EVER SEEN IN SPRINGS

The biggest American touring car ever brought to the west is in Colorado Springs today. It is a gasoline touring car of 35-horsepower and is an exact duplicate of the car with which H. E. Thomas of Chicago won second place in the recent Vanderbilt cup races by a sensational finish which completely puzzled the owners of foreign cars. The car was brought down from Denver last night by H. C. Colburn, formerly of the Antlers garage of this city, and E. W. Swanborough. The car can be seen today at the G. G. Strang garage on Nevada avenue.

Mr. Colburn and Mr. Swanborough broke the Denver-Colorado Springs record last summer, making the trip in 2 hours and 50 minutes. When they return Saturday with their new car they will attempt to lower this record ... by at least twenty minutes. Local automobile enthusiasts will ... Saturday's ... WHAT ALL THE WORLD'S A-SEEKING—THE WEALTH OF HEALTH.

Chemists of international reputation tell us that properly made tea is distinctly beneficial, both as a pleasing means of carrying water through the system, and as a tonic for wearied brain and muscle.

And doctors insist that few of us consume liquid enough to keep the body in good working order.

Flavor, strength and delicacy ... widely different values suggests, therefore, that there are good teas, indifferent teas, and poor grade teas; besides teas that are old and worthless, and teas that are cheap.

We pride ourselves on our tea values, and wish to demonstrate the truth of our assertion that our teas are the best the market affords. For instance—There's a wealth of health in the using of our Al... blend of Ceylon, 50 cts. the pound.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Feb. 8.—The ore shoot struck by J. H. S. Cox and associates, lessees, in the Rebecca mine of Poverty gulch several weeks ago, has been developed to the point of surrender. A carload lot is occasionally marketed. Settlements are effected at the rate of $25 and upward to the ton. The shoot, which has a width of 18 inches, was encountered in prospecting at a depth of 98 feet. It has been followed horizontally for 30 feet or farther. A crosscut, started on the 500-foot level of the C. Q. D. adjoining, by Copeland and associates, lessees, has proceeded about 150 feet of its journey and is in the locality wherein it is believed an extension of the shoot struck above should be encountered in the Rebecca.

SINKING STARTED ON THE RATTLER CLAIM.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Feb. 8.—Sinking has been started in the shaft on the Rattler claim of Raven hill by O'Byrne and associates, lessees. It is proposed to add 50 feet, which will provide a depth of 150 feet. At that point a lateral will be advanced toward the locality of a shoot that has been opened on the 130-foot level. This body is three to four feet wide and is yielding ore of average quality. The mine has been equipped with a good hoisting plant and other machinery.

EMPIRE STATE IS SHIPPING HEAVILY

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Feb. 8.—Shipments from the Empire State of the Isabella Mines company, situated on the east slope of Bull hill, are averaging from 20 to 30 carloads a month, a rate of production that has been maintained since Manager George Kilborn installed the big hoist a year ago. Ore is being broken from several bodies of good size and average quality between the 500 and 1,100-foot depths. The shoots have been well developed and give promise of steady surrender for a long time. The surface equipment is one of the best on Bull hill.

TRILBY SHIPPING ON LARGE SCALE

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Feb. 8.—Now that dead work has been finished for a time, shipping on a large scale has been resumed by the Trilby Gold Mining company on the Trilby mine of Bull hill. The shaft was continued to a depth of 825 feet where an ore shoot was encountered. It is of good size and average quality. Ore shoots have been exposed in several parts of the property and thousands of tons of ore lies on the floor ready to be hoisted. Most of it is of standard quality. The output is averaging a carload a day. It could be more than doubled with a larger hoisting plant. The installation of such a plant has been given favorable consideration.

POINTER G. M. CO. BOOKS SAID TO BE MISSING

Where are the books and records of the Pointer Gold Mining company? A number of indignant stockholders of the company met in the office of Samuel P. Reall in the Postoffice building yesterday afternoon and asked President W. R. Foley, of Denver, some pertinent questions as to the financial condition of the company, on whose authority the company was recently sold for taxes and whose idea it is to reorganize the company.

Mr. Foley said he could not answer the questions intelligently without referring to the books, and that he did not know just exactly where the books are. S. J. Mattocks, secretary of the company, moved to Kansas City several months ago and left Miss H. W. Mitchell in charge of the secretary's work. But he did not leave the books with Miss Mitchell and no one seems to know just where the much wanted records are to be found. President Foley promised to write Mr. Mattocks in regard to the matter and, if the books can be located, will hold another meeting with the stockholders in two weeks.

C. B. Ferrin, of this city, is leading the indignant stockholders in their fight against the president and secretary, who, they claim, own very little stock but are running the company's affairs with a high hand.

DYSPEPSIA-PROOF.

No Any Meal Can Be Thoroughly Enjoyed By Any Stomach.

Men, as a rule, are first discovered by their enemies. Their antagonists turn on the searchlight, and the proof of merit will lie in being able to stand the flash.

It was only in this way that Mr. White ever knew that dyspepsia was one of Mr. Black's worst enemies. Sitting face to face at a two-by-four table, he handed his afflicted friend the bill of fare:

Oyster Cocktail. Stuffed Olives.
Boston Clam Chowder.
Strained Gumbo.
Sirloin Steak and Mushrooms.
Roast Beef Hash.
Boiled Ox Tongue with Sauerkraut.
Lobster à la Newburg.
Baked Pork and Beans.
Combination Crab Salad.
Hot Mince Pie.
Pineapple Fritters.

Mr. White ordered a "little of each." Mr. Dyspepsia Black ordered crackers and a glass of milk. "I had such a big breakfast this morning," he said, "that I'll just take a bite to keep you company." But Mr. White could not be deceived: "I am afraid you can't stand the gleam, Mr. Black. Why don't you say you have dyspepsia and be done with it? You'll always have that hungry look as long as you have dyspepsia. Now listen. My stomach was in just as bad condition as yours at one time. But now I can eat anything at any time. For instance, this clam chowder or sirloin steak or even the lobster would be just as welcome to my stomach as your crackers and milk. You don't realize how this dyspepsia business is robbing you of your spirit, of your energy and ability to think quickly. I can't help notice it. You haven't the cheer and sociability you had three months ago. Now I'll tell you what to do," and thereat the cheerful Mr. White took a vial from his pocket and extracted a wee tablet. "There, there is a tablet that contains an ingredient, one grain of which digests 3,000 grains of food. For even the worst dyspeptic it's the only thing that really gives relief. The reason is it relieves the stomach of nearly all the work it has to do, digests everything in the stomach and stimulates the gastric juice. I can't get along without them. They are Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. You can get them anywhere on earth for 50c a package."

Yes, it is true. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets absolutely stop heartburn, nausea, indigestion, dyspepsia of the worst type, sour stomach, bloaty feeling and all eructations and irritation and freshen and invigorate the stomach. They cheer you up and make you get all the good there is in your food. You will forget you ever had a stomach to worry you.

STOCK MARKET IS SLUGGISH

CONDITION RESEMBLING MIDSUMMER DULLNESS IS EXPERIENCED ON WALL ST.

LITTLE NEWS TO ACCOUNT FOR APATHY OF DEALERS. SLIGHT RALLY LATE IN SESSION.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Speculation failed to show any initiative today. There was a falling off still in the volume of activity from the recent level and the trading fell at times into a condition of semistagnation which is generally seen in the market except at what is called the period of midsummer dullness. Prices drifted aimlessly and soon reached the limits of fluctuations, coming back over the earlier course and backing under the varying operations of the board room traders. It was assumed that recent large speculative accounts were sold out and some new influence was awaited to start prices in either direction. No such influence developed today of sufficient importance to prove an incentive to operate in stocks.

The closing weakness of yesterday was carried over into the early hours of today. Something was made of the apparent lull in the long period of unprecedented activity in the iron and steel trade. The impression was modified by the fact that orders on hand in the trade are said to be equal to the capacity of plants for many months ahead. Nevertheless, engagements ahead have not served to check the continuance of demand up to this time and while the present condition was bound to develop as an accessory consequence of the expansion of demand faster than production, the effect on speculative sentiment of the check is still felt. Movements in the United States Steel stocks, usually very sluggish, are of marked effect on general sentiment. The special weakness in these stocks today, therefore, hurt the whole market. The postponement of action in the Union Pacific dividend until next week was also a disappointment.

The uncertainty of the coal strike outlook was an underlying influence toward depression, owing to the widespread effect such a contest would have on the whole industrial situation.

The passage through the house of the railroad rate regulation bill seemed to be accepted with tranquillity. The practically unanimity with which it passed explains the previous certainty felt in its success. Subtreasury operations for the day made a small contribution to the supplies of the banks, thus reducing the heavy absorption of the previous portion of the week. But the government institution again appeared at the clearing house today with a credit balance bill, thus promising another inroad upon banking supplies to figure in tomorrow's subtreasury statement and in the weekly bank statement. There was no change in the rate for time loans, but they are well sustained and call money rose late in the day. There was a substantial rally late in the day which seemed to be due to the disinclination of traders to follow prices far in any direction. The closing tone was quite strong. Bonds were heavy. Total sales, par value, $3,445,000. United States bonds were all unchanged on call.

GRAIN STOCKS WEAK AGAIN

WHEAT FLUCTUATES EARLY ON CALL BUT DECLINES TOWARD THE CLOSE.

TRADING IN CORN AND OATS IS LIGHT—PROVISIONS ARE ACTIVE AND ADVANCING.

CHICAGO, Feb. 8.—Weakness in the wheat pit developed after trading was well under way. At the opening sentiment favored higher prices and quotations on May were ¼ to ⅜ higher, at 85¼ to 85⅜. Shorts were active bidders and their demand advanced the price of May to 85⅜@½. The shorts were urged to action by a report that the wheat crop of India is in an extremely precarious condition because of continued drought. The slight upturn induced heavy selling by commission houses, which caused a slight reaction. Renewed buying by shorts caused a second rally, and then liberal selling by commission houses and numerous small holders who were influenced by the prediction of snow for Kansas and Nebraska caused the market to weaken. Many reports were received during the day of damage to the wheat crop, but they were of such a contradictory character that they failed to influence the market to any degree. It was not until the official forecast was announced that prices declined. Trading throughout the day was large. The low point for May was reached at 84⅝@¾ and the close was weak with May 84⅝.

Trading in the corn pit was very light and the market was inclined to be weak. Easy cables and liberal local receipts were the chief bearish influences. The close was easier with prices at about the lowest point of the day. May opened unchanged to a shade lower, at 44¼ to 44.1-3@⅜, sold off to 43⅞ and closed at 44.

A continued good export demand caused moderate firmness in the oats market early in the day, but later the market was weakened on profit taking by local holders. May opened a shade to ⅛ higher, at 30⅜@½ to 30½, sold off to 30@⅛ and closed at 30⅛.

The mark of 6 cents per pound for live hogs was realized today and caused a decidedly active provisions market. There was active buying by shorts which resulted in a considerable advance in prices. The greatest demand was for pork and this showed the most strength. Local packers were liberal purchasers of ribs. The market closed strong with May pork up 27½, at $15.15. Lard was 10 up, at $7.82½. Ribs were 7½@10 higher, at $8.00@8.02½.

MISS CAROLYN LUNT IS TO BE A BRIDE

Judge and Mrs. Horace G. Lunt have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Carolyn Lunt, to Mr. Meredith Bailey, of Philadelphia, Pa. No date has been set for the wedding.

WEST AND VOKES THE "COMEDY KINGS."

West and Vokes, the "Comedy Kings," supported by Margaret Daly Vokes and an excellent company, will be the attraction at the Opera house tomorrow evening. An exchange, in speaking of this company, says:

"A Pair of Pinks," a jumble of fun, good music, pretty girls and fine costumes, was the attraction at the Academy of Music last night which pleased a good sized audience. The chorus was good looking enough to secure liberal applause as the curtain rose on the first act, and the girls appeared in sufficient different costumes to make the average person wonder how they changed from one to another in so short a time.

West and Vokes make as bright a pair of comedians as have been seen here in a season. Their fun is unique; it might be said to be characteristic, and would not go in an impersonation.

Harry M. Stewart, as "Ikey Lock," is another fun-maker 'way above the average; it would not be fair to him and the audience to place him a second to West and Vokes, and it would not be unfair to West and Vokes to place Stewart right in their class.

One of the pleasing features of the bill was the work of Miss Margaret Daly Vokes, who is one of the cleverest comediennes that have been seen here in years. It could not but be noted that the part she took did not have the scope it should have for an artist of her class, and it was this that brought out her real strength as an actress, in that she made much out of a very little.

There were many present last night who declared the attraction to be one of the best of its character that has been seen here this season. The chorus, which sings well and works far above the average, appeared to splendid advantage in every song and the audience gave numerous evidences of approval and delight over the work.

INCORPORATED.—Articles of incorporation were filed in Denver yesterday by the Eagle Valley Mining and Milling company. The incorporators are: Frank Kramer, Charles S. Muse and John R. Hanger. The capital stock is $250,000. The offices of the company will be in Colorado Springs.

CROUP

Begins with the symptoms of a common cold; there is chilliness, sneezing, sore throat, hot skin, quick pulse, hoarseness and impeded respiration. Give frequent small doses of Ballard's Horehound Syrup (the child will cry for it) and at the first sign of a croupy cough apply frequently Ballard's Snow Liniment to the throat. Mrs. A. Vliet, New Castle, Colo., writes, March 19, 1902: I think Ballard's Horehound Syrup a wonderful remedy, and so pleasant to take. Sold by the Hefley-Arcularius Drug Co.

Vera Cummings, a Colorado Springs girl, has been rescued from a disorderly house by the police in Leadville. According to the girl's story, she left Colorado Springs last Sunday at the instigation of a woman named Tina Logan, who said that she wanted two girls to work in a respectable boarding house. When they arrived at the house in Leadville, however, the girl says that she and her companion were held prisoners until the place was raided by the police.
